Tasting Notes

"There was just a touch of cream as it aired out, but you hardly notice as it is quickly obliterated. Mostly, it is crisp, earthy and showing considerable finesse and complexity. It opens full-bodied, but shows notable elegance as well in the mid-palate. Most especially, it is vibrant, with good acidity delivering maturing fruit flavor to the palate. There is tension on the finish and the fruit lingers nicely. Its earthy and mature nuances make it seem rather grave and serious, a wine more likely to appeal to fanciers of aging Bordeaux or even Baga and Barolo rather than fruity, round and sweet wines. Still, it is stunning just now, multi-dimensional and nuanced." Mark Squires. The Wine Advocate.
